

A washed up Actor walks the shoulder of the 101 freeway selling polaroids of himself to drivers stuck in traffic. A severe Car-Phobic lands at LAX to face his demons and a moment later is thrown into the trunk of a taxicab. A diaper-clad Rock Star, whose life and car have been repossessed, clutches a dog's leash, harassing passers-by. A Composer kept by her possessive Director Boyfriend is traumatized by the road rage of a ferocious, lonely West Hollywood Art Dealer. Ejected from the safe bubbles of their cars onto the sidewalks of Los Angeles, they begin to deal with their lost fame, new phobias and haunting addictions while Walking In L.A.

WALKING IN L.A.

Director Ben Berkowitz takes on his third feature film in this outlandish ensemble comedy in the vein of Robert Altman's Short Cuts and Curb Your Enthusiasm with a stellar cast including Rex Lee (HBO's Entourage), Richard Belzer (NBC's Law & Order), Vincent Piazza (HBO's Sopranos, Martin Scorsese's Boardwalk Empire), Yolonda Ross (Choke, I'm Not There), Leonardo Nam (Sisterhood of The Traveling Pants), Alysia Reiner (Sideways, The Starter Wife), and Keith Stevenson (The Pursuit of Happiness).
